FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

DHS ISSUES RBC SHIELD CERTIFICATE OF DEV. TEST. & EVAL. DESIGNATION
Major Milestone Towards Final DHS Designation As Qualified Anti-Terrorism Tech

Washington DC, Sept. 08, 2011 - On July 27, 2011, the Dept. of Homeland Security (DHS) formally approved independent test results of the patented RBC Shield® Tiles. This certification validates the RBC Shield® Tiles as a method whereby homeowners, businesses, schools, command centers, and government offices can easily and economically retrofit existing spaces and create a shelter-in-place. Once inside the protected space, occupants are safe from the hazards of radiological, biological, and chemical threats caused by terrorist acts or industrial accidents.

Test results submitted to the DHS conclusively demonstrated the radiological, biological and chemical protective capabilities of the RBC Shield® Tiles when installed on a test shelter. After an extensive review of the structure of the tiles, the method of application, and the test results from seven independent testing laboratories, the DHS issued RBC Shield, LLC a Certificate of Developmental Testing and Evaluation Designation (select "DT&E Designations for Homeland Security" in the upper left side bar at <http://www.safetyact.gov/>).

The DHS requires that RBC Shield, LLC must now test the capabilities of consumers or trained installers to build shelters on their own using instruction manuals or training provided by RBC Shield, LLC. This testing must be completed and validated before the RBC Shield® Tiles can obtain final DHS designation as a Qualified Anti-terrorism Technology.

RBC Shield, LLC is seeking partners to bring this vital protective technology to world markets as soon as possible. Learn more about this exciting product at <http://www.rbcshield.com>.
